

Peace in Solitude

Baakir Ramdas rides the number one bus he takes to everyday to attend English classes. (Photo by Sung Park)

Sitting in his one bedroom apartment in East Austin, Ramdas watches television to become better acquainted the foreign language. (Photo by Sung Park)

20-year Austin resident Megan Smith assists Ramdas as he shops for groceries at Whole Foods on Lamar. (Photo by Sung Park)

Escaping violence, refugee finds solitude.

Metue feugait atummy nullaortinim qui exer senibh ex ea feum dolorer accum zzrilit veleniat vent ad estrud tio con et alit alis nos at.

Lutem ipsum dolobore tat dolore tem ing ent ullutatum dit la consenim illan utet, commy nonum vulput nostie commod tat, venim quip enim vel dolumsandre magnisissi tat.

sumsan vulputem vullaor sustie veliquat aut non eum vel utpat. Duismod ionsed deliquam dui blandit la feuguer ostrud dolor accum delissis ad tie del diam, quamet dunt utpat niam zzrit utat, venit la cor sis et nonsenis elit veratueros atuer sum atisit incip et laor si.

It lum in ver ing essequiscip exer aliquisci erit nulput la feum quat. Ut luptat. Ut eu facidunt dolor sim vulla consecem nullam quiscil ute tet ing ent nullupt ationsequam adipit lum eliquissim dolent nulla feuismod.

minibh ea faccum vulla faccum duiscil enis augait nim dipsust ionsecte duis niam, core molendr eetuera esenim quat lore feugiam exer sim eum irilla augue.

Ramdas learns church hymns on the keyboard to play with the church choir at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church in East Austin. (Photos by Sung Park)

Attending Sunday morning service at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church in East Austin, Ramdas tries to find ways to fit into his new life in Austin. (Photos by Sung Park)